EL PASO BECOMES DISTRIBUTING CENTER FOR 14 FACTORIES AND MILLS

Goods Will Be Shipped Over Both Territories, Colorado, Texas, Mexico.

El Paso has just been made the headquarters and distributing center for 14 eastern factories and mills, and takes rank with Dallas, Kansas City and St. Louis, becoming the second city in Texas to be thus selecteu.

The basement and first floor of the D. R. Francis building at 321 Mills street, has been leased from Mrs. B. F. Hammett and is now being remodeled and put into shape for stock and show rooms by the firm which will represent these big concerns.

Stocks in carload lots will be shipped to El Paso, stored here and distributed to the southwestern trade. The local company and the factories and mills will pay the freight on the goods, share and share alike, to El Paso, and from this the southwestern trade will pay the freight to point of delivery. This going to mean a great saving in freight charges to the business men of the southwest, and it is declared, will bring business to El Paso for this reason if fer no other, that has in the past gone to Dallas, Kansas City and St. Louis. to Dallas, Kansas City and St. Louis. El Paso dealers will save all freight

Dallas has four mill and factory egencies distributing goods in Texas, but El Paso has not had any in the

The distributors have secured the agency absolutely for Texas, New Mex-ico, Mexico, Arizona and Colorado, for 14 big factories and mills and all the distributing will be done from this city. The lines represented are shirts, collars, overalls, hosiery, underwear, suspenders, belts and men's furnishing ods of various kinds.

The new firm is known as the Moss-Mayfield-McKeel company. Charles Moss, who for several years past has Charles represented several big eastern con-cerns and traveled out of El Paso, broking orders and then filling them from eastern factories, is one member of the firm; J. E. McKeel, former secre-tary of the Merit Manufacturing company, of Mayfield, Ky., and C. W. May field, a banker and property holder of the same city, comprise the firm. Mr. McKeel came west for his factory, inspecting the country, and was accompanied by Mr. Mayfield. They came to El Paso for The Herald's aviation meeting and have never left. They became so impressed with the advantages here and in the southwest that they began to talk business with their old time friend, Moss, and the result was the formation of the company and the quiet preparation for business, Mr. Moss and Mr. McKeel have already taken the field and Mr. Mayfield is remaining behind to supervise the remodeling of their store and receive the first shipments of in-coming stock. The firm will employ from five to 15 packers and shippers at

It is the first concern of this character to be established in El Paso and, owing to the shipping arrangements, it coving to the shipping arrangements, its going to center a great deal of trade in El Paso, it is believed. The two new partners in the business are most en-thusiastic over the prospects and Moss has always been a believer in the futnre of El Paso and surrounding country. They believe that inside of two ing a block of ground.

Governor Opens the State Labor Convention-Politicians Plentiful.

Galveston, Tex., April 12.-Before more than 2000 representatives of organized labor in this state, governor Campbell today delivered an address which officially opened the thirteenth annual convention of the Texas Federation of Labor. The governor was followed by Maj. Lewis Fisher and Z. H.

Among the organizations represented here are the railroad car men, state printers' council, railway trainmen, loomotive engineers, firemen and enginemen, railway conductors and all hullding trades. Politicians from all over the state are here, including three gubernatorial Important Legislation.

Perhaps the most important measure a come before the labor convention is the proposed employes' compensation legislation, which is strongly endorsed by state labor commissioner Myers, who arrived here last night. Politicians who will speak here during the week, are expected to voice their opinions on the proposed law. While many laws have been recom mended for bettering the conditions for railway employes, it is not expected that the railroads will oppose the measures in any way here, but will walt until the bills are issued in the legislature. There will be a conflict over the adoption of some amendments to the constitution of the federation Thurs-
